Secrecy in Agreements
By Individuals.

Washington, Jan. 21.—The American proposal to make public international commitments relating to China was adopted in a much amended form today by the far eastern committee of the arms conference.

Among numerous changes made was one eliminating the proposal objected to by Japan for publicity of engagements in China made by private individuals but to which foreign governments themselves are not party.

As adopted, however, the resolution does provide that agreements between the Chinese government itself and private individuals abroad must be consummated openly and their details made public.

Street car lines already connect the site with the cities of Florence and Shreveport, La., and Ford would combine them into a cosmopolitan city, the largest in the South. GENOA PARLEYS SEEK TO AVERT ALL CONFLICTS

Lloyd George Says All
Nations Were Invited
To Conference.

Says World Peace Depends on Friendship of
U. S. and Britain.

London, Jan. 21.—Premier Lloyd George, addressing the National Liberal conference today, declared that all the nations of Europe, without distinction, had been invited to the Genoa economic conference, "because we want to put an end to constant wars and rumors of wars."

Discussing the Washington conference he said "the peace of the world largely depend upon good understanding between the United States and ourselves. The conference has done more than anything else to restore that understanding."

The premier in referring to international conferences in general said that if there had been a conference in July, 1914, there would have been no war in August, 1914.

"No international conference ever settled Europe's problems," he said.

"But they have advanced the cause of peace, and I have profound conviction and faith in the ultimate reason of mankind."

Mr. Lloyd George was greeted with a storm of cheers when he appeared on the platform in Central Hall, where the conference was held.

Replying to an introduction by the chairman of the meeting, Lord Lovelace, the premier immediately began a discussion of the advantage according to the empire from the Irish settlement.

"It is the first time for a century," he said, "that we have had an Irish government established with the wholehearted sanction of the people of Great Britain."

Mr. Lloyd George said that the Irish settlement had enhanced the prestige of Great Britain throughout the world and had deprive her enemies of "the force of that taunt that we were always willing to give extended advice to other nations which we never followed ourselves."

Touching on the subject of a general election, he declared that he had started the talk of it, saying he had not made up his mind in regard to such an election and that it would not be his business to do so until the last minute.

World trade, he said, was in a worse plight than any one present had ever before witnessed. He continued: "International confidence is the basis of international trade. The problem confronting Great Britain and the world may be summed up in one phrase: restoration of international confidence."

"Order will restore confidence. We must establish real peace in the world."

According to Vincent Pisani, Superintendent of the Children's Society, the promoters of the Dempsey-Carpenter match and other famous boxers邀ested three girls last summer at the swimming pool which he ran in Madison Square Garden.

The society agent also alleged that Rickard took two of the girls, Alice Euck, 15, and Anna Hess, 11, to an apartment and later offered them to have assaulted the Rickard girl in the garden tower.

After a complaint had been made to the society, the three girls were held on suspicion of being in a position of little party show," he added. With reference to German reparations, he said, "I am one of those who think Germany ought not to be let off from payment, but Germany is suffering from exhaustion like other nations and delay is inevitable. The sooner the better."

The Prime Minister said he was a member of the League of Nations, and would not run it if it were a sort of little party show," he added. With reference to German reparations, he said, "I am one of those who think Germany ought not to be let off from payment, but Germany is suffering from exhaustion like other nations and delay is inevitable. The sooner the better."

The less governments interfere on earth the better, and the better for the governments."

Mr. Lloyd George went on.

"There is but one urgent program peace on earth, good will amongst men."

The premier said the Washington conference had been a notable success and that Great Britain owed a debt of gratitude to Mr. Balfour, the head of the British delegation.

The prime minister affirmed his belief that the Washington conference had done more than anything else to restore a good understanding between Great Britain and America and went into a discussion of the benefits of international conferences.

"All who are anxious for peace, and who have the courage to tread the path believe in face to face discussion," he added.

Pope Benedict Active in Effort To Restore Peace to the World

Pope Benedict XV, the 250th successor of St. Peter as supreme head of the Roman Catholic church, began his pontificate on September 6, 1914, soon after Europe entered upon its four years of war. Upon many occasions during the war he endeavored to bring the belligerent nations to a peace agreement and thus to maintain the tithe which had been affectionately bestowed upon him by a high dignitary of his communion as "a messenger God sent to bring peace."

Relations between Italy and Austria, in both of which peoples of the Catholic religion predominate, was particularly a great sorrow to the pope. Those near to him said he deplored the German violation of Belgium. When the Lusitania was sunk he telegraphed to the then Emperor William his abhorrence of a deed which had shocked the world.

The successor of Pius X was said to have combined the statesmanship of Pope Leo XIII with the grace of his immediate predecessor. He endeavored "to said, to carry out the ideals and policies of those great churchmen. But the world war, which broke the heart of Pius X, saddened the first four years of his pontificate and prevented the fulfillment of some of his aspirations.

One of the incidents of his pontifical career was the visit which President Wilson paid to him on January 4, 1919, when the president went to Rome prior to the opening of the peace conference at Paris. Social and treaty questions were discussed, as well as the private incidents at the conclusion of which Pope Benedict presented to his guest a handsome mosaic reproducing Guelph Ren's famous picture of Saint Peter, valued at $40,000.

One of the smallest men physically ever elected to the chair of St. Peter, the former Cardinal della Chiesa, never expected to be thus honored by the Sacred College and is said to have wept when apprised of his election. He would have preferred, he said, to remain a simple priest, or at most cardinal, and archbishop of Bologna.

On the day of his election he spoke of the burden of responsibility thrust upon "one frail man" and expressed his horror of the world conflict then being waged and his hope that it would quickly end. One week after his coronation, when the Fisherman's ring was placed upon his finger, he issued an Encyclical to the episcopacy of the world in which rulers were exhorted to put aside dissensions and to "enter into a council of peace with all speed." The appeal fell on stony ground, however, and, later, on December 12, 1914, the Vatican authorities announced the Pope's plan for a Christmas truce was failing "because of the opposition of a certain power." Reports were that Russia and Turkey had used "unscrupulous" methods to bring about the truce. Along a thousand miles of battle lines the following Christmas day, thousands of cannon thundered in answer to Benedict's appeal to "lay down your arms."

Again on January 18, 1915, Pope Benedict took up the task of bringing peace to a war-torn world, decreeing that on February 7, priests and laity of the Catholic church throughout the world should unite in services and prayers for the restoration of universal amity and good will. The next occasion Benedict exerted his influence to prevent the Pope from having to issue a declaration of war, when he issued a decree to all rulers, declaring that "blessed he who first extends the olive branch and tenders his hand to the enemy in offering his reasonable conditions of peace."

In March, 1916, the pope again reiterated his prayer for the dawn of a new and better day. "Each belligerent should clearly state his desires," he said, "but should be ready to make the necessary sacrifices of pride and partiality involved." The Emperor Francis Joseph of Austria, asking him to "shorten the war," and likewise sounded the then emperor of Germany as to the terms upon which he would lay down the gage of battle.

In May, 1916, Monsignor Bonzano, papal delegate to Washington, delivered to President Wilson a message from the pope in which he intimated that America might volunteer to conciliate the European belligerents. The note came at a time when the United States and Germany were engaged in a diplomatic crisis and Mr. Wilson, in his reply, did not respond to the pontiff's suggestion for bringing about peace. The next communication from the Vatican to the White House came on January 16, 1917, and contained the approval by Benedict of the President's peace note. Three months later the United States herself had resorted to the arbitration of arms and entered the struggle on the side of the Allies.

On August 8, 1917, still hopeful of saving the world from avertable calamity, Pope Benedict issued in his own handwriting his famous apostol in the nations, exhorting the belligerent rulers to end the war for the sake of humanity. One passage read: "As to the damages to be repaired and as to the war expenses, we see no other means of solving the question than by submitting as a general principle complete and reciprocal condonation, which would be justified, moreover, by the immense benefit to be derived from disarmament, so much so that we shall understand the continuance of a similar carnage only for reasons of an economic order." The pope, however, recommended the evacuation of Belgium by the Germans, self-determination and freedom of small nations. Earlier in that year (1917) he had warned the German and Austrian rulers that a "ruthless" submarine policy would alienate the sympathy of all neutrals. When Berlin put out one of her innumerable "feelers," Benedict, in reply, insisted Germany must stop the execution of Belgian civilians and repatriate all exiles. In September, 1918, the Vatican finally announced it would take steps toward bringing about peace only when invited to do so by both groups of belligerents.

Pained by the shelling of Paris by the German long range guns in the spring of 1918, Pope Benedict sent a protest to Emperor Charles of Austria and to the Berlin government against what he characterized as "a wanton massacre." The pope's anger over the capture of Jerusalem by the allies under the British General Allenby, caused bitter comment in the German press. According to the Rome Messenger on December 18, 1917, a few days after the fall of the Holy City, he warned Christian states "against aiding the Turks in recapturing it."

Pope Benedict's attitude toward the peace conference of 1919 was said to have been one of rather solicitude. Early the previous December, in a letter to President Wilson, he pleaded for aid on behalf of oppressed neutrals and later commended the church of which he was the head to "do all in its power to support the decisions of the delegates of Versailles." In all of his messages and addresses he expressed the hope that peace would be based upon Christian principles.

While the peoples of every land were suffering in some form from the rigors of war, the pope personally observed all the rules for food conservation formulated by the Italian authorities and with his own hand ordered the Vatican on food card rations which continued until the end of the conflict. Always strict in eating and drinking, Benedict XV observed even greater simplicity at the table during the troublous days of his pontificate. Visitors have said that he lived as plainly as the poorest contributors of Peter's Pence.

Giacomo della Chiesa, the spiritual head of 300,000,000 Catholics, was born of noble line at Pegli, Italy, on November 21, 1854. His father was the Marchese della Chiesa, (pronounced Kee-sa). He received his education at the Capriican college and later attended the Academy of Ecclesiastical Ordination to the priesthood. In 1873 he soon attracted the attention of Cardinal Rampolla, who under Pope Leo XIII was the papal secretary of state. He accompanied Rampolla to Madrid in 1883 when his patron was Nuncio, remaining there until 1887 when he returned to Rome upon the elevation of Rampolla to the cardinalate.

In 1901, after having served four years as secretary of the Nunciature in Spain, he was appointed secretary of the cipher. This position gave him considerable authority and the same year Mgr. della Chiesa was named as consultor of the holy office. A notable promotion came to him on December 18, 1907, when Pope Pius X appointed della Chiesa as archbishop of the important See of Bologna to succeed the late Cardinal Swampa. His administration of this office for seven years was characterized, it is said, by prudence and diplomacy. His consecration as an archbishop was performed by Pius himself in the Sistine Chapel, an honor so unusual that it attracted world-wide attention. Archbishop della Chiesa was made a cardinal in May, 1914, less than six months before mounting the throne of St. Peter.

He took his ecclesiastical title from Pope Benedict XIV, one of the ablest pontiffs of the church, who was born in Bologna on March 31, 1657, and died on May 3, 1758.

Benedict XV's personal appear-

Pope Benedict's efforts toward peace were thus summed up by Cardinal Logue:

"During the last war every effort was made to induce the Pope to side with one belligerent or another but he went straight for the arrow. He made justice at the triumph over oppression."

"There was not one of President Wilson's 14 points that was not included in the pontiff's peace conditions."

"The pope was deeply grieved by the conflict which resulted from efforts to obtain Ireland's freedom. He was appealed to, to intervene in behalf of the Irish Republican movement but Archbishop Hayes on receiving an appeal from the Vatican in 1921, said that he was following the policy of neutrality and impartiality. He condemned Cardinal Tisserant of Holland with the following words: 'The Pope's neutrality is a great sin.'

"The pope received a note from the papal legate in Paris, asking him to accredit to the Holy See, asking them to add to the invitations of official receptions a note requesting women to avoid excessively decorated gowns."

"The pope declared in an address to the Sacred College that the world was afflicted with five great plagues which he enumerated as the negation of authority, hatred among brothers, pride, pleasure, and the supernatural objects of life. These evils, he asserted, could be overcome only by the aid of the gospel. In a secret consistory in December, he declared that the Catholic church would never abolish the law imposing on the celibacy on the clergy nor introduce democratic forms which had been asked by priests in Czechoslovakia, where a secession movement had been based on that appeal.

"The resumption of diplomatic relations between the Vatican and France and Germany was attributed to the diplomacy of Pope Benedict.

"The healing of the breach between the Vatican and France which resulted from the separation of church and state in the country of Joan of Arc as a saint. In comment on these new relations, it was pointed out in many quarters that during the years when Benedict XV had directed the policy of the church there had been an increasing influence by the Vatican on the public opinion of the world.

"His voice was used in approval of the aims of the Washington conference on the limitation of armament and in a letter to President Harding, the pope commended his initiative in calling it. His efforts on behalf of war prisoners were unremitting and he personally appealed to the prelates of the church to promote unity among the nations.

"He issued numerous appeals for the protection of children in Europe and for the famine suffered in Russia and throughout the world. A huge fund was collected and distributed for the children of Germany, Austria, Poland, Hungary and Czechoslovakia. He also made large contributions to funds for the relief of the Russians and Chinese and to the Red Cross.

The pope's brother, Marquis John Anthony Della Chiesa, died in December, 1920. The pope was reported in 1921, as having suffered two attacks of rheumatism.

In 1922, it was announced he had been convicted of mutiny when manning on board the French warships in the Black Sea refused to fire on the Russian Bolsheviks in 1919.

Although both were serving terms in prison they were elected to the City Council in October and November last. Marty's election was nullified on the ground of his conviction for mutiny and now Badina's election also has been declared valid on similar grounds by vote of the Prefectural Councils of the Seine department.

The Communist party has made much political capital out of these two cases and now announces that it will appeal the annulment of Badina's case to the Council of State.

It is expected that the council will confirm the annulment and order fresh elections. Communists declare that if this is done they will renominate both Badina and Marty and try to reelect them.

Meanwhile, the cases have caused at least one lively exchange of compliments in the Chamber of Deputies between Communists and government leaders who refused the Communist's plea to set the mutineers free.

A Bible Thought for Today.

STAY WITH THE LORD.—The Lord is with you, while ye be with him; and if ye see him, he will be found of you; but if ye break him, he will forsake you.—2 Chronicles 15:2.

THE HOME MARKET.

protection, the tariff bill is to reserve the "Home Market" for all European manufacturers. Of course the first effect is to cut off that competition and cut off the taxes that would flow into the Treasury from the imports; the second effect is to allow American manufacturers to raise their prices on all consumers. Then when Europe can't ship manufactures here, what happens? They are shipped elsewhere, to Canada, the Argentine, India, South Africa, China, and so on. Ship routes are diverted to countries where goods can be sold. Of course those ships must carry cargoes both ways or lose money. They will carry back to Europe the wheat of Canada, the wheat, beet and mutton of the Argentine, the lumber of Brazil, the wheat and oil of Russia, the farm products of our own. Speaking of Russian oil, there is the greatest field in the world. The surface oil was burning there when Alexander the Great caused to watch it while on his road to India, before the birth of the Christ. But going back to wheat, Argentina has 750,000 bushels left of the old crop and a new one in the making, soon ready for sale. The American farmer will be left with a surplus for which he has no market. That ends his ability to buy and makes an end of the Home Market dream. And here is the completion of the vicious circle in the failure of the great manufacturing concerns and a collapse such as has followed every attempt on the part of the Republicans to create an artificial prosperity for the fellows who financed their campaign. Their great trouble is that they abrogate the natural law of cause and effect.

"ODDING" STUDENTS.

Many school authorities are getting out of patience with what they claim as the indifference and languid interest of modern school pupils. Some people will call them old fogies and think they are out of sympathy with young people. Yet they see more of the tendencies of the younger generation than the rest of us, and their opinion is entitled to attention.

For instance, a representative of Amherst college, recently wrote a letter to the New England Association of Teachers of English, in which he complained of the "oddling" process to which high schools are subjected. He said that the "modern movie sick government isn't to gots to do anything hard."

Many other school authorities feel that while the present generation of students may compare favorably in ability with the past, yet their attention is diverted by too many things. In the old days there was nothing to do but go to school and the pupils put their mind on their studies; now there are movies and dances to attend, athletics to take up so end of attention, automobiles to be driven, and a constant success of distractions.

In proportion to this point of view, you will hear some teachers defend the young crowd, and say that the college authorities and school superintendents are too scholastic and insist on a pedantic degree of perfection. It is undeniably true that young people in these days have too many distractions. Many parents allow their children to go to social events all through the week and then are disappointed if they fail to pass their tests or enter higher institutions of learning. It takes some concentration to succeed in life. If the young folks of Newark expect to make good, they must make their school work the position of first importance.

It takes some concentration to succeed in life. If the young folks of Newark expect to make good, they must make their school work the position of first importance.

Congressman Begg of Ohio, Republican, said on page 1257 of the Congressional Record (Jan. 13): "I say to you men seriously, the Republican party is pledged to a platform of economy, to cut down expenses. Every body the world over is cutting down expenses except this Congress, and we bring in bill after bill to raise salaries when the farmers are compelled to cut down or go into bankruptcy court." Honest, truthful! Mr. Begg! Will someone kindly page Diogenes?

The New York Telegraph, a Republican paper, refers to the fact that President Wilson predicted a Democratic victory next November, and adds: "President Wilson is a great man, but it doesn't require a great man to cover the present drift of public sentiment."

The senators who won't help ratify the disarmament treaties are likely to get a chance to enjoy the pleasure of their home towns during coming terms.

THE HYDROGLIDER.

In land transportation, within the last 20 years, there has occurred a transformation from the horse and buggy to the high-speed automobile. In the navigation of rivers and lakes a similar development is now taking place. The ancient paddle wheeler is being supplanted by the modern hydroglider. The development has been gradual. It began as in the case of the land vehicles, with the introduction of the internal-combustion engine. This led to the first craft of the hydroplane, or the skin-on-the-water surface rather than plowing through the depth of the water. In this connection there have been many modifications of hull design. Until recently they were driven by immersed or semi-immersed propellers, which, besides lacking in efficiency, were likely to hit any obstruction, or to get fouled by reeds or other weeds, which are common in shallow waters. Finally came the type now under development, which runs on the surface of the water, and is driven by an external propeller. These are known as water or hydrogliders. The most recent developments are exemplified in a glider built on the Clyde in Scotland, called the "Yarrow," which attained a speed of 50 miles an hour.

Fundamentally, all of these hydrogliders are similar. They vary in size and power, and also quite considerably in hull design and accommodations. One, called the "Puffin," is used on the river Seine in France as a sight-seeing boat, and is said to have attained a speed of 50 miles an hour. Another, the "Aero," is a small aerial glider, which has a wide curved-up bow that looks like a figure "8" laid on its back. This hydroglider, still under construction, has exceptionally luxurious cabin accommodations, and is propelled by the fact that its propeller is driven by a rotating air-cooled engine.—Henry S. Cole in February Popular Mechanics Magazine.

YESTERDAYS IN OHIO.
(January 21)

1822.—The legislature passed a resolution creating a State Canal board.—Edward P. Dickinson, jurist and congressman, born at Fremont, died there, August 25, 1891.

1857.—Sardis Burchard, merchant banker and philanthropist, died at Fremont. Born at Wilmington, Vt., Jan. 15, 1801.

1888.—The mother of James A. Garfield died at Mentor, in her 83d year.—Three persons were killed in a train collision near Steubenville.

KILLED BY CIDER FUMES.
The largest cider vat in New Haven, Conn., exploded, clearing and three men were engaged for the work. The staging upon which they stood broke and they were precipitated into the vat. Two of them were rescued promptly, but the third died from inhaling the fumes before he could be taken from the vat.

MEN, DON'T CROWD! STILL MORE ABBRVIATED

WITH THE OHIO CLUB WOMEN

By Mrs. Gee Elliott McCormick

Kindergarten schools have become a hobby with Miss Annie Laws, No. 237 Reading road, Cincinnati, president of the Ohio Federation of Women's clubs from 1907 to 1909 and now the head of the kindergarten department of the state federation.

She knows the advantages for better opportunity realized by the child who has been given kindergarten training and she never grows tired sounding the praises of this department, which long has been regarded as one of the most important of the Ohio federation's work.

Mrs. Annie Laws wants every club woman to take up a special study of the kindergarten.

The most impressionable age is between four and six, Miss Laws points out, and she emphasizes in all her discussions on the subject "just what it means to every child at this age to be under the trained eye and guiding hand of a kindergarten worker."

Mrs. W. L. Whittaker, Columbus, past corresponding secretary, by whom the directory was compiled, has been highly complimented for her work which is regarded as "the last word" in club-directory making.

Every club president and federation head chairman and members of committees and officers are entitled to a copy of the directory. Commemorative card of the district vice-president in the event you have failed to receive it.

It will be recalled that the General Federation bimonthly council, in session last year at Salt Lake City, Utah, endorsed the movement to secure through state legislation kindergarten advantages upon petition of the parents. Various articles on kindergarten work can be obtained by communicating with the National Federation of Music clubs.

It will give an opportunity to all the young students of music to be assembled in a group, and the younger organization will have its own officers, but will be mothered by the older organization. The president of the music club appointed a committee of Mrs. W. W. Davis, Mrs. W. G. Corne and Mrs. J. C. Hiltner to plan the new club and it is hoped the Springfield orchestra will be a feature of the new organization. Both Zanesville and Columbus have similar clubs.

The D. of M. will entertain with a dancing party Thursday evening of next week at the Masonic Temple. Bill Holmes' "Melody Five" will arrange the dance program, it being the last appearance of the orchestra of Paul Krug as banjoist. He will be succeeded by Kier of Denison University. Dancing will be from nine to one o'clock.

An enjoyable evening was spent at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Brownell in Wilwood avenue, Thursday evening, when the U. B. Hustlers class of the East Main Street U. B. church gathered to hold the regular monthly meeting. An interesting program was rendered when a short business session was held. The remainder of the evening was spent in music and luncheon was served to the following:

Mrs. George Compton, Mrs. Lois Nesbit, Misses Nina Hubbard, Grace Loughman, Bessie Scott, Dorothy Farnell, Elizabeth Livingston, Mamie Scott, Matilda Beard, Helen Fairall, Fern Fleener, Messrs. Frank Shipp, Carl Boring, Earl Cooperider, Paul Shipp, Mark Lees, Harry Smith, and Mrs. Vernon George.

As we review the progress of our federation down through its more than quarter of a century, we do not see any great revolution, but a steady, consistent evolution from the narrow horizon of our early days to the present when with enlarged vision born of our experience we unfurl our banner for the general up-day.

The story told the police by the Coleman family is that Tommy picked up a knife to show how he had seen a murder in the movies and drove the blade into his father's breast. It was the father on his deathbed who first accused Tommy. London police are investigating the case thoroughly, especially statements that Coleman and his wife quarreled frequently. Tommy is shown with his mother and little sister, leaving a police hearing.

CRITICAL COMEDY
VAUDEVILLE ACT
Musical comedy vaudeville, in "According to Law," in which four pretty girls and a young man are the stars, is a feature at the Auditorium today. This act, also Prof. Andrew's "Trained Bears, together with feature picture program, is well worth seeing at the Auditorium.

LEND-LEND PRODUCTION
In "Emperor Jones," Tuesday night, January 24, at the Auditorium theater will be the story of "The Emperor Jones," that old and destined like other dramatic monologues to meet a significant end at the hands of his loyal subject, O'Neill's royal tyrant as interpreted in New York last season. Charles S. Gilpin caused a tremendous amount of comment from dramatic reviewers and the story of

"ACE OF HEARTS,"
A STRONG DRAMA
Gouverneur Morris, the Gold Pen, and "Tale of Two Worlds," has succeeded in adding another powerful story to his Goldwyn photoplay with the production of "Ace of Hearts," which will be shown at the Auditorium theater Sunday. The author has expressed himself

National, blames the environment of the Ozarks for his life of crime—in the films. Whitlock was born at Springfield, Mo., where as a boy he was fed up on tales of the Civil War and the reconstruction days when Jessie and Col. Younger, Old Man Arch Clements, 44th Auditorium, with surviving members of Quantrall's Guerrillas made the Missouri hills their rendezvous.

Lloyd's favorite pastime was to listen to aged guerrilla sympathizers tell of times they hid Jessie James from the Pinkertons, how the Youngers fought off their pursuers. Of course, or how any number of bank robbers lived in Ozark caves until their crimes were almost forgotten.

BROTHER AGAINST BROTHER
BASIS OF FILM STORY
A strong, dramatic picture of a house divided against itself—of brother against brother—told against a realistic background, is offered in "Women Who Wait," the Photoplay feature showing Sunday only at the Grand theater, with a cast that features Marguerite Clayton, Marion Hale and George MacQuarrie.

This is a story of fisher-folks of a New England village, and revolves around the conflict of two brothers—one whose nature is vicious, the other tender and true. Into their lives enters a girl who is loved by both, although the vicious brother triumphs through treachery. In the end, however, the good brother wins the girl whose love has waited through years.

A charming New England fishing village is the locale for "Women Who Wait," and its rugged, rock-bound coast, its heavy togs and sudden raging storms, and a picturesque old lighthouse supply the background for some thrilling and tense moments in the story.

MARIE PREVOST IN
"DON'T GET PERSONAL"

The Alabama for Sunday offers its patrons the Universal special feature, "Don't Get Personal," in which Marie Prevost and a strong cast of players are seen, which includes George Nichols, Harry Robinson, Roy Atwell, Roy Barnes, Delia Sosa, Gordon Alida Jones, Ralph McCullough and others.

She has brought her Broadway manner into a peaceful home. What happened? You must see this snappy comedy drama Sunday.

NELL SHIPMAN ASSUMES
TWO DISTINCT ROLES

Nell Shipman, actress, author and star in "The Girl from God's Country," the tremendous outdoor production, at the Grand theater Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, assumes a dual role in this greatest of all Shipman pictures. As Neeka, "the girl of the outdoors," she plays a distinctly different characterization than that of Marion Calskate, the daughter of a millionaire.

The story deals with a sensational transaction in a desert flight planned by Calskate known to the world as the "wizard of the air," but in reality his inventions have been made by a "frazzled" inventor living in a lonely hut in the sand dunes. This inventor provides "solidified gasoline" for the flight. Calskate's daughter, Marion, is angered at her father's adoption of Neeka, a girl of the North Woods, not realizing that Neeka is her real sister and the daughter of Calskate.

Otto Kraus, owner of the Riviera, the K-12, makes an effort to steal the formula. When Neeka secures the formula. When Neeka realizes that she has turned traitor to her real father, she follows Kraus in another plane. A thrilling battle in mid-air follows, in which Neeka is saved by a parachute.

The finale of the story is laid "on the other side of the world" at the gates of a Japanese village, where two lovers kiss while the cherry

Mr. Chaney will be remembered for his uncanny impersonation of the legal eagle in Mr. Moto, who is as much a criminal as a lawyer. THE RAINBOW GIRL
COMING SATURDAY

Fast moving musical comedy "The Rainbow Girl," which has been creating brilliant history ever since its elaborate premiere in New York, comes to the Auditorium next Saturday afternoon and evening.

This very famous production, which is sponsored by Gleason and Clark as they most attractive musical comedy has had four runs in New York, Philadelphia, Chicago and Boston, and though it is its third season, it has been offered in not more than ten or twelve other cities.

DAUGHTER HAD TO HELP MOTHER

Now Can Do All Her Housework Alone Because Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Helped Her

Jasper, Minn.—"I saw in the paper about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and took it because I was having such pains in my stomach and through my back that I could not do my work. I had tried other medicines, but none did me the good that your Vegetable Compound did. Now I am able to do all my work alone while before I had my daughter staying at home to do it. I have told a number of friends what it has done for me and give you permission to use my letter as a testimonial." Mrs. JESSE PETERSEN, Route 1, Jasper, Minn.

There is no better reason for trying Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound than this—it has helped other women. So if you suffer from displacements, irregularities, backache, nervousness or are passing through the Change of Life remember this splendid medicine. What did for Mrs. Petersen it may do for you.

The Vegetable Compound stands upon a foundation of nearly fifty years of service.

WILLIAM FOX PRODUCTION

"THE INSIDE OF THE CUP"
SCORES A BIG TRIUMPH

Exposing sugar hypocrisy and telling a highly dramatic and appealing story, "The Inside of the Cup," a powerful Paramount-Cosmopolitan picture, admirably produced, was presented before an appreciative audience at the Auditorium theater yesterday. This is an excellent picturization of Winston Churchill's powerful novel which excited world-wide controversy on its publication seven years ago.

The theme is an excellent one and the story of human lives which the narrative unfolds, has been charmingly developed. The picture is one that will inspire thought as well as entertain. The company of players, too, is far above the average. The character of John Hodder, the Recruit, who exposes the hypocrisy of his rich benefactors, is excellently portrayed by William P. Carleton.

That of Alison Parr, the daughter of Eldon Parr, a hypocritical financier, is finely presented by Edith Hallor. Kate Marey, a salesgirl, is captivatingly portrayed by Marguerite Clayton. The feature is held over Sunday.

Firewood Has Advanced 100 Per Cent and Coal About 80—Bread Hard To Obtain.

Vienna—Only the money of Soviet Russia is now cheaper than the currency of Austria, and prices in crowns are rapidly approaching the same fantastic figures as in rubles.

Of the 120,000,000 of crowns in circulation on December 1, 72,500,000 have been issued in ten months.

Effective December 1, new federal taxes are calculated to yield about 15,000,000,000 crowns, principally from public utilities and the state monopolies.

The increase in the price of all spirituous and malt liquors are increased enormously.

It is nearly impossible to estimate the increased cost of food, varying as it does in different parts of the city, but fats, milk, bread, oil, etc., are the rationed article, while meat, are not only far beyond the price of the average Vienna, but very difficult for anyone to obtain.

Thus far the government has refused to consider an immediate ban or a compulsory levy of foreign money and securities advocated by the Social Democrats.

Effort to reduce the enormous disproportionate civil list, composed of 253,000 civil servants and 87,000 pensioners, have been done despite the fact that, out of a population of 6,000,000, a large majority are government employees.

The civil servants, one hour and a man and a woman, are one man against it and their opposition was so powerful that the scheme was hopeless.

It is now considered likely that Finance Minister Schlosser's plan to abolish the civil service subsidies may be delayed as it is contended that it would result in such an advance in prices that the people could not afford a holiday and improve his health.

Last June he left Seattle for Japan and then, as he speaks Russian, decided to wander through Siberia. Then he continued west thinking to visit Moscow. But at the frontier, he was stopped by the "Cheka," as is familiarly termed the secret police, his papers, money and clothes taken, and he was told these could be held in safe keeping as "everything was free in Soviet Russia" and plenty of new clothes and money could be had for the asking.

After a fruitless visit to the "Cheka" headquarters where he heard light conversation about how one-third of fellow passengers had just been shot by mistake pending a closer examination of their papers, he got aboard a departing train and reached Samara.

There he saw some Americans from the American Relief administration who gave him work at the rate of 75 cents a week, some food and clothes, and later he came into Moscow, where he was able to get papers to take him to Riga, outside the Russia where everything and everybody is free.

LAST DAY TO APPLY

Judge Bolton Announces
That His Finding in James Case Will Be Announced Monday.

Judge Bolton of the municipal court took under advisement the case of Ohio vs. Curtis James yesterday following a complete hearing of evidence and arguments of the opposing counsel. He stated that he would give his decision Monday morning at 9 o'clock.

The case opened at 1:30 with City Solicitor E. S. Randolph and Attorney J. L. Hilton of Canton representing the city and state and Attorney Phil E. Smythe representing James. State Prohibition Agent J. W. Foster was the last witness called. He testified that he made a search warrant and went to the St. Paul street and water tank Club. Sheridan returned the original 36 quarts of liquor which had been possessed yesterday on a charge of possession.

Chief of Police Sheridan testified that the original 36 quarts of liquor were returned November 25 and that the raid took place immediately after it was returned. Officer Stewart, who was on duty at the time, was not called. Chemist E. A. Bell took the stand and testified to the amount of alcohol in the contents of the bottles and the state had contradicted his case.

For the defense, it was testified that the manufacture and sale of white whiskey, of which two bottles were found at the James place during the raid, was lawful and legal proceeding of the era. Frank Winters, 11 Charles Harris, neighbor of James on South Sixth street, testified that he had no knowledge of James being a place of public resort, as did Mrs. Curtis James, who took the stand. Cross examination of Mrs. James disclosed the fact that for nearly a year after first occupying the Sixth street house the James' lived in a room on the second floor which was used as a rooming house by some of the boys who had some of them with them and all of whom were at the house.

Attorney Smythe in his argument contended that the state did not make out a case against James. He claimed that the search warrant was illegal and was obtained before the 96 proof bottles were recovered and for the purpose of again seizing them. The officers and cavalry will be present in full dress uniform.

LADIES AUXILIARY

London, Jan. 20.—Cotton will serve as president of the Wednesday evening meeting, giving the meeting right to the members of the auxiliary unit. Canton Oliver. The officers and lodges will be installed after the banquet. All officers and cavalry will be present in full dress uniform.

L.O.P.

Oliver Branch met Tuesday evening. General secretary moved the meeting Tuesday evening the first degree will be conferred. Members of the degree staff will be on hand as this is the beginning of the new year.

UNIFORM RANK.

At the N. and L. meeting Tuesday, the First degree was conferred on a class of 100 men and other ranks were disposed of. Tuesday evening meeting will be one of great importance. General Vice-Chancellor Hunter, who represents the commandant rank of the government army and the head of the whisky. One bottle in particular, carrying a band stamp showing the liquor to be 100 proof and made in 1914, on analysis proved to be 86 proof and colored with caramel coloring. The label of the manufacturer showed that the liquor was made in 1916.

FINNCE MAY BE RAISED TO PEERAGE

London.—It is generally expected that Viscount Lascelles will be raised to the peerage before he wed Princess Mary late in February. At this time he is a "commoner." His title will be only a courtesy one. He possesses no hereditary distinction except his "Distinguished" Service Order.

When the Princess is married, she will transfer her coat of arms to the minister side of her husband's new escutcheon. Her present arms, like those of the queen, bear no motto. No woman except a princess has the right to a motto on her coat of arms, according to heraldic laws.

Princess Mary will be attended by eight bridesmaids, two of whom are her cousins, Princess Maud, younger daughter of the Princess Royal, and Lady May Cambridge, daughter of the Earl and Countess of Athlone. Two others will be the Princess' girl friends, Lady Rachel Cavendish, youngest daughter of the Duke and Duchess of Devonshire, and Lady Mary Fox-Strangways, daughter of the Earl and Countess of Leichster. Four others are still to be selected, and there is great expectancy among debutantes of a suitable age.

The guard of honor outside the church on the wedding day will be furnished by the Royal Scots, the second regiment of the line, of which the Princess is a colonel. The Grenadier Guards, Viscount Lascelles' former regiment, will also be prominently represented.

AMBASSADOR OF TURKEY CAPTURED

Constantinople.—The Turkish Ambassador, Sait Reshid Bey, arrested by the Sublime Porte, has been captured by Kemal Pate, the Nationalist leader, at Angora. Kemal's Angora government contends that the Sublime Porte, head of the Turkish government in Constantinople, has no right to appoint Turkish ambassadors to foreign countries but that this right is vested in the Angora government.

Reshid Bey's capture was affected by guile. He was proceeding from Constantinople by steamer for Batum, a port on the Eastern shore of the Black Sea, enroute to Tehran, the Persian capital. When he reached Trebizon, a Black Sea port in the territory controlled by Kemal Pasha, he was persuaded to land so that the Angora government could give him a message to the Persian government.

Reshid Bey's "message" proved to be a warrant for his arrest on the ground that the Nationalist Assembly already had appointed a Turkish ambassador to Persia.
